About webinar

Human resource development is one of the important aspects of nation building. Higher educational institutions (HEI) plays an important role in it. Inculcation of quality culture and quality status among all stakeholders should be the prime objective of HEI. Assessment and Accreditation of higher educational institutions is necessary to understand the quality status. Quality status can be recognized in terms of performance. There are seven parameters framed by NAAC to evaluate performance of HEI. This webinar will be helpful to all affiliated institutions for quality sustenance and development. Guidance by expert speaker and their experiences of accreditation process will help to improve post NAAC accreditations of HEI.
