The four science Nobel prizes (physics, chemistry, medicine/physiology, and economics) have performed extremely well as a method of recognizing the highest level of achievement. The prizes exist primarily to honor individuals but also have a very important function in science generally. In particular, the institutions and nations which have educated, nurtured, or supported many Nobel laureates can be identified as elite in world science.

Nature of Activity: - Awareness of an irrational number Pi

Date: 14th March 2022

Objectives of Activity:-

1. Students to know about an irrational number Pi.

2. Applications of an irrational number Pi.

Brief description about activity Conducted:-

We circulated an awareness quiz on  $14^{th}$  March 2022, with permission of the principal, consisting of 10 questions regarding an irrational number pi. March 14 (3/14 in the form of month/day) is celebrated as Pi Day ( $\pi$  Day) as 3, 1, 4 are the first three important digits of the Mathematical constant  $\pi$ . Physicist Larry Shaw first organized  $\pi$  day in 1988 at the San Francisco Exploratorium. He is also known as "The Prince of  $\pi$ ". In 2009, US representatives to the United Nations demanded that March 14 be celebrated as a  $\pi$  day.

Total 35 (23 Girls + 12 Boys) candidates participated in the awareness quiz. After securing at least 40% in the quiz, participants received the certificate of appreciation on the registered email id.

Pi Day Awareness Quiz March 14 2022

March 14 (3/14 in the form of month/day) is celebrated as (Pi Day) as 3, 1, 4 are the first three important digits of the mathematical constant. Physicist Larry Shaw first organized  $\pi$  day in 1988 at the San Francisco Exploratorium. He is also known as "The Prince of  $\pi$ ". In 2009, US representatives to the United Nations demanded that March 14 be celebrated as a  $\pi$  day. Prior to that, the day was celebrated on the 22nd of July. The second approximate value of  $\pi$  is 22/7.
