ABOUT ONLINE WORKSHOP

A new research scholar, academicians and students has many questions with respect to research designs in social sciences. These questions are as how to select the research design in our research, how to verify, is it necessary to have a research sign in research of social sciences? What is the importance of it in qualitative and quantitative research?

Therefore it was felt to have a workshop that could clarify these questions in a proper, scientific way. This workshop would help the researcher and academic scholar to learn and handle their entire research in a systematic way.

THE OBJECTIVES OF ONLINE WORKSHOP :

- i] Concept of Research Design in Social Sciences.
- ii] Types of Research Design in Social Sciences.
- III] Ethics in Research.

She went on to explain that the researcher should fit in the shoes of the respondent; he should sympathize with the respondent. As a sociologist one should have a global exposure and should be aware of the global scenario. One should not restrict oneself to his own research but mix with the society and give due credit to social reformers for their contribution. In order to provide workers with better jobs, it will continue to rise in 2023. Domestic silk moth caterpillars, also referred to as "Bombyx Mori," are used in sericulture.
