Students Mental Health and Counselling Committee

Activity Report submitted to IQAC

Assessment of Well-being Index among college students amid covid 19 pandemic situation

conducted during 20/06/2021 to 25/06/2021

Students Mental Health and Counselling Committee of the college is established in accordance with the UGC notification No. F. 1-1/2020 (Secy) dated 5th April 2020 regarding Mental Health and Well-being of Students during and after COVID 19 outbreak.

As a part of adhering the guidelines issued by UGC and directions given by the college Principal Dr. R. H. Satpute and IQAC of the college, this committee has conducted the programme of “Assessment of Well-being Index” of College Students during 20/06/2021 to 25/06/2021 at the time of ending of second wave of Covid 19 pandemic situation.

It is an immense pleasure for committee to submit the report of this activity of study of “Well-being Index” among B.A. and B.Sc. students of the college.

Since last one and half year due to covid 19 pandemic situation and impact of subsequent lockdown huge population got affected with psychological, social, financial spheres of life including death of loved ones to domestic violence. College going student’s life is also drastically influenced due to this sudden surge of virus. Due to online education, screen addiction, limitations in physical activity, loss of job opportunities, educational sector and teaching learning process is largely affected during this pandemic situation. The study of mental and physical health along with other spheres of students’ life is necessary for fruitful changes in teaching learning process.

This activity has been conducted to find the well-being Index among the college students specifically on the background of covid19 pandemic situation and online teaching learning process. The concept of Well-being indicates the individual’s satisfaction in different domains of one’s life. It includes the objective and subjective parameters of life. The objective components include education employment status, financial responses and comforts of modern life. The subjective component involves the overall satisfaction and well-being. The term psychological well-being is a subjective term connoting different meaning to different people. Personal Well-being includes meaning of life, absence of somatic symptoms, self-esteem, positive affect daily activities satisfaction, absence of suicidal ideas, personal control, social support, absence of tension and general efficiency. Well-being is not just the absence of disease or illness. It is a tangible and amorphous concept and depends upon the person's perception.

Importance of this Psychological Assessment Programme:

At the end point of the second wave of this covid 19 pandemic situation in Maharashtra it is important to assess the well-beingness among students, in the present scenario of covid 19 pandemic situation and residual effects due to fear of infection, illness, perhaps death of loved ones basically on the ground of online education. Results of this assessments will be helpful for students to understand and handle this stressful situation. This study is also helpful to parents to know how their children are psychologically affected amid this pandemic situation. This study is also helpful to teachers to understand the present psychological profile of their students and to handle accordingly the teaching-learning process.

Details of assessment process:

Principal Dr. R.H. Satpute sir and IQAC of the college encouraged to all committee members for ensuring maximum participation from students' side in the assessment process. Committee Members had taken special efforts to ensure the involvement of maximum college students of B.A. and B.Sc. in the programme.

Procedure adapted and Tools used for the assessment:

This psychological assessment has been conducted through online channel. The following well-being Index test is converted in the Google form. The involved students have to solve this test and submit it through google form. Total 229 students involved in the process.

Well-being Index –

This psychological test is developed by Prof. (Dr.) Vijayalaxmi Chouhan and Dr. Varsha Sharma. This test consists 50 statements related to emotional well-being, social well-being, psychological well-being, spiritual well-being, self-awareness and physical well-being of which 32 statements are positive and 18 are negative. This is five-point Scale. The items can be responded to by selecting from options; always, often, sometimes, rarely and never. Test-retest reliability of the scale is 0.71 and the validity of the scale is 0.85.

Results of the assessment of well-being Index:

Following tables depicted the results of this psychological assessment.

Average	D	04	1.74

All 229 undergraduate students were studying B.A. and B.Sc. in the Government College of Arts and Science, Aurangabad. Total 121 female students and 108 male students were solved this psychological test through google form channel.

Result of this study shown that out of total 229 students, 166 students (72.48%) are extremely high level of well-being Index, 39 students (17.03%) are having high level of Well-being Index, 19 students (8.29%) are above average, 4 students (1.74%) are on average and one student (0.43%) is below average level of well-being Index. Subject: Mental Health & Well-Being of Students during and after COVID-19 outbreak

Ref : D.O. No Secy(HE)/MHRD/2020 dated 4th April, 2020

Dear Madam/Sir,

The University Grants Commission has been issuing regular advisories requesting HEIs to take all possible preventive and precautionary measures to ensure the safety and security of students, whether on campus in hostels or outside, as we confront the COVID-19 outbreak. During the period of national lockdown, it is equally important to address any kind of mental health and psychosocial concerns of the student community during and after COVID-19.

Therefore, in order to reassure the student community to avoid any kind of stress or panic in the prevailing situation vis-a-vis their studies, health and related issues, Universities and Colleges are requested to take the following measures for the mental health, psychosocial aspects and well-being of the students:

1. Set up help lines for mental health, psychosocial concerns and well-being of students in Universities / Colleges. To be regularly monitored and managed by Counsellors and other identified faculty members.
2. Regular mentoring of students through interactions, and appeals/letters by the Universities/Colleges to remain calm and stress free. This can be achieved through telephones, e-mails, digital and social media platforms.
3. Form COVID-19 help groups of students, headed by hostel wardens / senior faculty who can identify friends/classmates in need of help and provide immediate necessary help.

4. Share the following video links of Ministry of Health & Family Welfare <https://www.mohfw.gov.in/> on your University/College website, and with students and faculty via e-mail, through social media like Facebook, WhatsApp and twitter etc.:

Gasca web Blood Bank Committee Report -2020-21

Web Blood bank started in the academic year 2017-18. In the year 2020-21, the committee made the students of the college aware about the importance of blood donation and they were asked to provide their name, mobile number and blood group information to the committee along with the blood group certificate for blood donation. In the 2020-21, 43 students of the college participated in this drive. The names have been published on the website www.gasca.ac.in. The idea behind this is that the person who needs blood can directly approach the students and request them to donate blood. Phone number of the student is given in the list with his blood group. To create a data base of donors for the society is main objective behind this activity. Along with this report, the list of students who have declared blood groups and are willing to donate blood is being attached.

Paithani Weaving Center Visit Report

On 10th October 2018 a visit was organized to Paithani weaving center Aurangabad accompanied by Prof. Asha Kitke, Dept of Home Science, Govt. College of Arts and Science Aurangabad. 8 students were present during the visit. Weaving center is situated at Roshan Gate near M.G.M. Hospital. Ramesh Khatri is the owener. Mahendra Wagh provided all the needed information.

Information collected during the visit is explained below:

Paithani derives its name from Paithan, the place where it has been produced for over 2000 years. It is essentially a silk saree with an ornament zari pallav and border. The motifs used are mostly traditional vines and flowers shapes of fruit and stylized forms of birds, and the saree is often known by the motif that dominates its border or pallav-Asavli, Narli, Kuyri, Bangdi and so on.

Made from very fine silk, it is considered as one of the richest saris in India.

Paithani is characterised by borders of an oblique square design, and a pallu with a Peacock design. Plain as well as spotted designs are available. Among other varieties, single colored and kaleidoscope-colored designs are also popular. The kaleidoscopic effect is achieved by using one color for weaving lengthwise and another for weaving widthwise.

Specialty of Paithani sari

A pattan (Paithani) is a gold and silk sari. In the revival of Paithani weaving, the production was oriented towards export requirements, while saris were produced only for sophisticated buyers. Paithani evolved from a cotton base to a silk base. Silk was used in weft designs and in the borders, whereas cotton was used in the body of the fabric. Present day Paithani has no trace of cotton. There was a time when silk was imported from China. Now Yeola and Paithan buy silk from Bangalore.

Asha Kitke
Prof. Asha Kitke
Govt. College of Arts & Science
Aurangabad

Paithani is a sari made of silk and zari. It is a plain weave, with weft figuring designs according to the principles of tapestry. Traditionally, Paithanis had a coloured, cotton muslin field that often contained considerable supplementary zari patterning. However, in the 19th century, silk fields were also woven.

Materials used

There are three types of silk threads used:

- Charkha This is widely used. It is cheap, dull and uneven.
- Ciddle-Gatta: Fine quality silk, thin shear, shiny, smooth and even.
- China silk: Very expensive to use.

This raw silk is cleansed with caustic soda, dyed in the requisite shades, the threads are carefully separated. Khari ( True / Real ) zari costs about Rs. 1800 for 250 grams. Golden threads are obtained from Surat, the quality being 1200 yard (1080 meters) per tola (11.664 grams). Gold threads are used in double and one of the finest varieties so much so that the closely woven surface looks like a mirror. The texture of the fabric is fairly compact with about 160 ends and 170 picks per inch (2.6 cm). Zari is a metallic yarn, made of pure silver. Originally, zari was manufactured in Yeola: Surat now being another zari-producing center. Initially, zari used in making Paithani was drawn from pure gold. However, silver is the affordable substitute today.

Material assembly

20-22 denier-organized silk is used in warp, while twofold ply, very lightly twisted 30-32 silk is used for weft. The warp yarn cost Rs. 1600-1800 per kg whereas weft yarn costs Rs. 1300-1600 per kg. A single sari may weigh from 1.45 kg or more depending upon the weight of the silk and zari used. The warp is usually made in the peg or drums warping process and is tied in ball form at the back of loom. It is usually made for 2 pieces of sari and is about 11.5 meters in length. While coloured silk is mostly used in figure work, the solid border have extra weft figuring threads. The weft for borders and body being different, three shuttle weaving is adopted, two for border and one for plain body. The border therefore appears as separately woven and then stitched to the body of the sari. Some times a separate pallu warp is twisted on the body. The end piece has fine silk. Warp threads are only of zari forming a golden ground upon which

PRINCIPAL
Govt. College of Arts & Science
Aurangabad

angular, brightly coloured silk designs are woven in the interlocked weft, producing a tapestry effect.

Due to proximity to the Ajanta caves, the influence of the Buddhist paintings can be seen in the woven Paithani motifs:

- The Kamal or lotus flower on which Buddha sits or stands
- The Hans motif
- The Ashraffi motif
- The Asawalli (flowering vines), became very popular during the Peshwa's period
- The morbangdi, peacock in bangle
- The Tota-Maina
- The Humarparinda, peasant bird
- The Amar Vell
- The Narali motif, very common

Small motifs like circles, stars, kuyri, rui phool, kalas pakhkli, chandrakor, clusters of 3 leaves, were very common for the body of the sari.

Pallu

- Muniya, a kind of parrot used in borders and always found in green colour with an occasional red touch at the mouth
- Panja, a geometrical flower-like motif, most often outlined in red
- Barwa, 12 strands of a ladder; 3 strands on each side
- Laher, design is done in the centre to strengthen the zari
- Muthada, a geometrical design
- Asawali, a flower pot with a flowering plant
- Mor, a peacock

Loom

It takes approximately one day to set the silk threads on the loom. "Tansal" is used to put the "wagi". The "pavda" works like the paddle to speed up the weaving. The "jhatka" is used to push the "kandi" from one side to the other. "Pushthe" is used in designing the border of Paithani in which it is punched according to design application. "Pagey" are tied to the loom. The threads are then passed through "fani".

PRINCIPAL
Govt. College of Arts & Science
Anantnag

There are two types of motion:

- Primary motions:

1. Shedding — dividing the warp sheet or shed into two layers, one above the other for the passage of shuttle with the weft threads.
2. Picking — passing a pick of weft from one selvage of a cloth through the warp threads.
3. Beating — dividing the last pick through the fell of cloth with the help of slay fixed on the reel.

- Secondary motions:

1. Take up motion — taking up the cloth when being woven and winding it on the roller.
2. Let off motion — letting the warp wound on a warp beam, when the cloth is taken up on the cloth roller beam.

Taking up and letting off the warp are done simultaneously.

Weaving

Paithani saris are silks in which there is no extra weft forming figures. The figuring weave was obtained by a plain tapestry technique. There are three techniques of weaving:

- Split tapestry weave - the simplest weave where two weft threads are woven up to adjacent warp threads and then reversed. The warp threads are then cut and retied to a different colour.
- Interlocking method - two wefts are interlocked with each other where the colour change is required. The figuring weft is made of a number of coloured threads, weaving plain with warp threads and interlocked on either side with the grounds weft threads are invariably gold threads which interlock with the figure weft threads, thus forming the figure. This system of interlocking weaves, known as kadiyal, is done so that there are no extra floats on the back of the motif thus making the design nearly reversible.

- Dobe-tailing method - two threads go around the same warp, one above the other, creating a dobe-tailing or tooth-comb effect. Weaving could take between 18 and 24 months, depending upon the complexity of the design. Today there are many weavers who are working for the revival of this treasured weave.

GASCA WEB BLOOD BANK COMMITTEE REPORT (YEAR 2017-2018)

GASCA Web Blood Bank was started in the academic year 2017-18 from the idea of the then Principal Dr. Kumud Kherdekar in Government college of Arts and Science, Aurangabad

Dr. Ramesh Perkar is in-charge, Dr. L R Mhaske, Smt. Pankaja Waghmare were working as committee members for the said work.

In the year 2017-18, the committee made the students of the college aware of the importance of blood donation and they were asked to provide their name, mobile number, and blood group information to the committee along with the blood group certificate for blood donation.

More than 50 students of the college have participated in this drive. Their names have been published on the website www.gasca.ac.in. The idea behind this is that the person who needs blood can directly approach the students and request them to donate blood.

Through this committee and NCC of the college. A blood donation camp was organized with the joint presence of boys and girls and with the cooperation of Dattaji Bhale Blood Bank. 41 students have donated blood.

Along with this report, the list of students who have declared blood groups and are willing to donate blood is being attached.
